Sheriff Paul Names Deputies To Special Positions

The Coffee County Commission met on Monday, April 9, in regular session at the Courthouse Annex in Enterprise, and heard Sheriff Brice Paul state "I know our buildings are old, but they can be kept clean and I will use inmates at the jail to make sure they are kept clean."

Sheriff Paul was making his first official visit with the commission, and said, "We will try to keep the courthouses and the jail in the best possible shape. We've had trustees out cleaning around the courthouses and we'll work on the grounds again when we get some fertilizer. We have some men working at the jail inside and out, and we'll also have workers cleaning inside the courthouses. I like to see our men work hard during the day so they can sleep well at night."

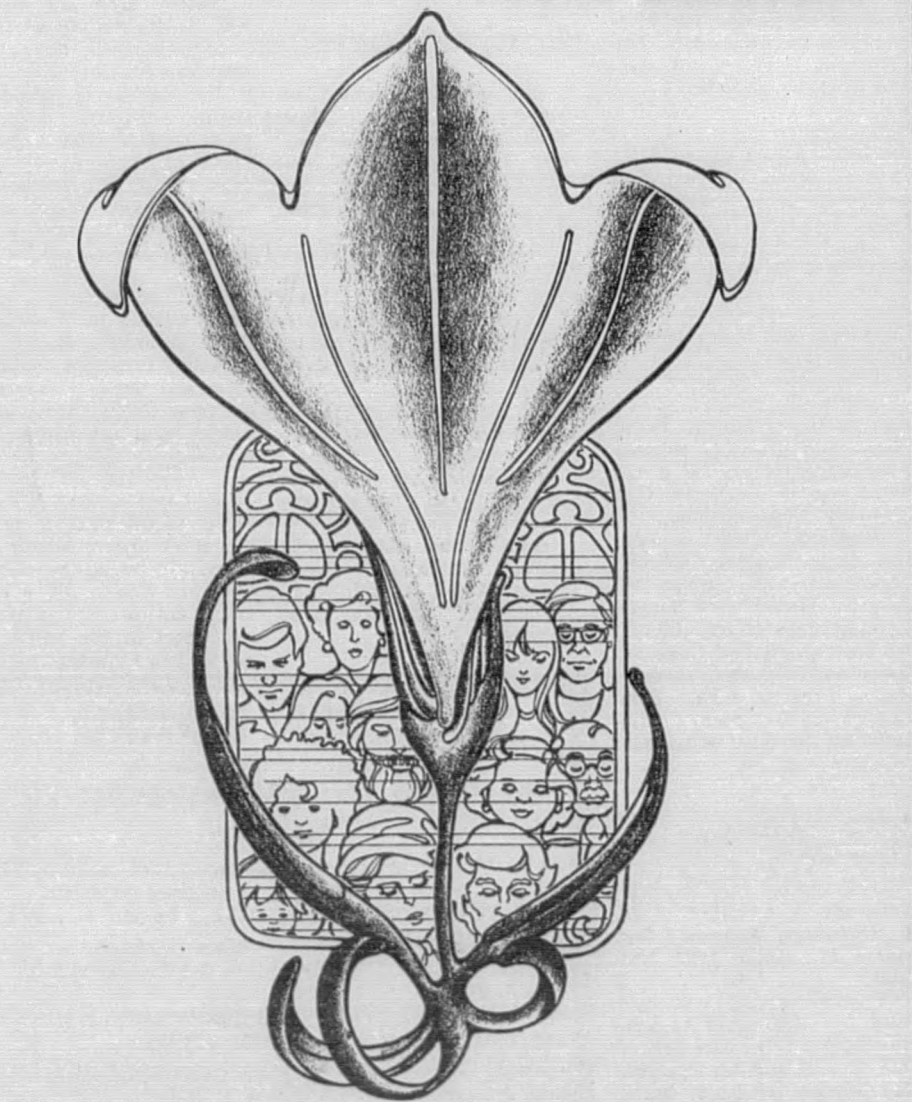

Sheriff Brice Paul addresses the County Commissioners

County Health Officer Kenneth Ball met with the commission and reported all three proposed landfill sites were satisfactory. In another matter, Ball stated he has made all but one employee lay-off (7 employees have been laid off) and that services to county residents had already been reduced. In a hopeful statement, Ball said, "I will attend a budget meeting this week and I hope to get at least some additional funds."

County Engineer Leslie Mullins told the commission: "There were two leaks in the roof at the office complex in New Brockton and asked if the roof was guaranteed; it would cost $60,000 to repair and widen 2.3 miles of roadway near New Hope, and that total roadwork needing immediate action now totals $260,000."

County Clerk Brunesea Winston informed the commission: "That all air conditioner filters had been checked in the office; that L. M. Burch stated if he couldn't find a truck driver this week, he would have to stop garbage pick-up; that the City of Elba would patch potholes in the courthouse parking area; that the county would lose 14 CETA slots due to expiration of the program. In Monday's final action, the commission voted unanimously to endorse Circuit Judge Terry Butts as a possible District Court Judge."

Utility Board Meeting Short, Sweet, And Routine

The Elba Water and Electric Board held a very short meeting Tuesday night with Chairman Charles Hayes and Board Member Mike Russell absent. Mayor Braxton Folsom, a member of the Board, presided over the meeting that lasted less than thirty minutes.

Folsom reviewed the financial condition of the Board for the month, and briefly discussed the list of unpaid accounts. This included 29 utility users a few days late with their payment, and totaling $1,119.27. Eighteen accounts are considered inactive because they have moved, etc., and these accounts totaled $1,007.52. City Clerk Jack Prescott says some of these will pay, and others will have their deposit applied to the account. Twelve utility users have had their meters pulled for non-payment of bills totaling $1,510.67. Prescott noted that most of these will pay their bill after they realize the need for the water and electricity.

Mental Health Board To Hold Meeting

The South Central Mental Health Board will hold a meeting in the Council Chambers at the City Hall in Enterprise, on Wednesday night, April 18, at 7 o'clock.

The meeting is for all persons who are interested in a day care and training program for mentally retarded adults, 21 years old and above, who live anywhere in Coffee County.

Mrs. Lillian S. Dickson, Director, Mental Retardation Services of the Board, will conduct the meeting.

Bike-A-Thon To Benefit For Cystic Fibrosis

The Three Seasons Study Club will sponsor a Bike-A-Thon on Sunday afternoon, April 29, beginning at 2:00 p.m., for the Cystic Fibrosis foundation.

Anyone between the ages of 11 and 90 who has a bike may participate. Pledge sheets may be picked up at Elba High School.

Bikers will meet on Court Square to begin the trip. A grand prize of a ten-speed bicycle will be awarded to the rider who receives the most contributions.

Band Day Set For May 5 In School Gym

Plans for the annual Band Day are now falling into place. There will be some changes from the past years, but a day of fun is planned for everyone, along with helping the "Tiger Band" reach their set goal of $5,000. This goal will help take care of expenses for the band in the coming year.

Also, the Boosters have purchased video-tape equipment that should prove very beneficial in all band programs.

The band students will be soon be contacting everyone to purchase Barbecue tickets, at the price of $2.50 per plate. A new item this year will be tickets for a $1.00 donation to the band.

Wiggy and gather as many good ideas, and some new fun additions are being planned.

Paul King Named To New Position At Dorsey

George Collier, president of Dorsey Trailers, Inc., announced yesterday that Paul E. King has been promoted to the position of Director of Manufacturing. In this position, he will be in charge of all manufacturing operations at the Elba plant.

King is a graduate of Troy State University and was born and raised in Coffee County. He has been employed by Dorsey Trailers for the past twelve years. Prior to that time, King was associated with the Elba City School System. He is a member of the First Baptist Church and active in church and civic affairs.

King is married to the former Janet Warr. They have four children: Catherine, Amy and Rob. King is replacing David A. Logan who has resigned from Dorsey Trailers to go into business for himself.

PAUL KING

BRAINSTORMS

With Fern Cox

We congratulate our friend, Paul King, on his just-announced promotion at Dorsey Trailers. We happen to know that Paul has been putting in more than the normal 8-hour day, and that it isn't unusual for him to get several telephone calls at home each night. Knowing this, we feel confident he can function smoothly as Director of Manufacturing.

Dave Logan has resigned to go into business for himself, we understand. Dave hasn't given us a detailed report on what he is going to do, but we wish him well.

We followed the recent train derailment news from Crestview with more than passing interest. First, that area is familiar to me, having been raised just across the state line at and near, Florida. Second, my daddy's family worked for the L & N - an uncle retired recently, my daddy was killed in 1943 on the job with L & N and my granddaddy was for years on the very route to Crestview, over the Yellow River at Milligan. Third - if they had moved the line of evacuation! more than a hundred yards north of the state line, I expected at least 60 to 75 percent of daddy's and my relatives to head for Elba, and our freezer just filled with thick steaks and juicy roasts! Since none of them were forced to leave home, now I can release all those "possoms" being collected to take the place of my good steaks.

We have a report on one of the area's best turkey hunters that still causes him a little embarrassment. It seems he was using his famous turkey call and getting an answer, but the gobble didn't come any closer. Being almost as good as an Indian in the woods, our hero started slipping through the woods in the direction of the answering turkey - all the time putting forth his best efforts on the caller to keep him interested. Well, the story has a lot more details, but it ended at a barn on a Coffee County farm with the local hero looking down at a large tame gobbler in the chicken yard! Now we can't bring ourselves to embarrass this man further with an unconfirmed story, so we won't call his name, but can say he works for the Elba Recreation Department.

The reactions following President Carter's news broadcast on de-regulation of oil prices have been varied. Some have been mad, others feel it will help, and some have found areas to tell jokes about. One man expressed relief that what Carter was really trying to do was take money from those old rich oil companies and give it back to us hard-working poor folks. You and I know this man was poking fun at government statements of "giving" us anything, "cause they ain't got nothing they didn't take from us in the beginning." This will apply to any "gifts" from windfall oil profits, heating grants or whatever Jimmy calls the handouts from the money pot.

We happened to be watching the tube the other night when our journalist friend, Bob Ingram, gave one of his famous editorials at the close of the evening news. He suggested a lifting of the ban on prayer in schools for next Tuesday when the Alabama Legislature goes into session. Bob is not alone in his concern over the direction the Alabama Legislature will go this year.

Sales tax levies are moving up around the state. Following the highly-publicized Pike County's 1-cent tax for the schools, we read this week where Lousades County has done the same thing, but with much less fanfare. With merchants all across the county voting to fight the same tax for courthouse work in Coffee County, schools beginning to feel the squeeze statewide, etc., we are going to watch with interest.

The young folks at the Elba Assembly of God made a good impression on a lot of folks during their closing Saturday morning. That was great, but it is not the whole story. We happened to observe them at the stadium the week before when they were holding their district track meet. All the children were snacking and using paper cups, etc., yet when the day was over, the stadium was cleaner than when they arrived! The paper, cans and other trash were in trash cans near the gate, convenient for the sanitation department. This day-to-day "clean around your own front door" policy is more effective than any campaign could ever, ever be.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Cox,

In regard to the recent change in the graduation date, we are concerned. Seniors at Elba High School, would like to see their feelings about the matter. Graduation was set for May 29, 1979 when we ordered our invitations. Now that we have our invitations printed, the date has been changed by a certain minority of people. Because of this, we are going to have to mark through the dates, making our invitations tacky. We think since graduation is based upon us, that we should have had some say about the matter. We were not asked what we thought about it at all. There are only a few people out of our class of 106 that had legitimate reasons for wanting the date changed. Why is it that a few people have the authority to overrule the majority? Maybe it is because of their last name! Whatever the reason, we think the school board should have taken all the Seniors into consideration and given us ALL an opportunity to express our feelings before making the final decision. It's not the fact that we are upset with the date of graduation, but the idea of a few people being able to change it after the invitations have been printed is what is so outrageous. Since we did not get to express our opinions

WASHINGTON

with U.S. Sen. Donald Stewart

In the past few weeks, we have seen two events that underscore the need of this country to actively explore and develop alternative sources of energy.

First, there was the latest in a long line of oil price increases that have driven the price of oil to a level that is almost as high as it has ever been. This is a result of the catastrophic results of an accident at a nuclear power plant.

I do not think the problems that arise from these two energy-related disasters are going to disappear. It is as hard to believe that we will halt importation of foreign oil as it is to believe that we will shut down every nuclear reactor in existence.

After all, we have - as a nation - been acutely aware of the energy crisis for some time. The government responded by creating an energy department that has spent about $10-billion annually and watched the problem worsen; and in Pennsylvania, the nuclear accident that everyone said would never occur actually happened.

As part of its overall attack on the energy crisis, the federal government must embark on a course that extends beyond dependence on foreign oil and nuclear power as ways to fuel this nation for the remainder of this century and into the next one. I think that a crucial decision to be made in our approach to this problem is whether we develop the clean, inexpensive and virtually inexhaustible energy that is provided by the sun.

Unfortunately, a lot of folks seem to think that solar energy is some sort of science fiction. It's not. A 1973 study done in conjunction with NASA concluded, for example, that with a substantial development program, solar energy by the year 2020 could economically meet the requirements of 35 per cent of our heating and cooling load, and 20 per cent of our electrical demands.

Furthermore, another 1973 study - this one by the Atomic Energy Commission - estimated that 10 to 30 per cent of our projected energy requirements could be provided by solar technology by the year 2000, and that 50 per cent could be provided by the year 2020.

That second study, by the way, also recommended a $10-billion federal outlay for solar technology. That seems like a lot of money until you realize we spend more than that every three months for foreign oil.

I cannot see solar energy being this country's only energy source, and I don't think anyone is realistically suggesting that. But when it is taken as a main ingredient in the energy mix - say providing 10 to 15 per cent of our needs - and combined with ingredients such as nuclear power and various other alternative technologies - we could make a significant dent in the amount of oil we import.

And, of course, it is our dependence on foreign oil that is contributing to inflation, to a poor balance-of-trade situation and to the weakening of the dollar on foreign exchanges.

Critics of solar energy generally cite its expense. I'll admit that in terms of 1979 dollars, it is not cheap. But as soon as we make a concerted effort to develop it - and as soon as the federal government concedes that solar technology is something more than science fiction - then the cost will drop as usage increases. And, employing pure economics as an indicator, the relative cost of solar energy declines every time the Arabs take another price increase on their oil.

All the arguments for development of solar technology are sound. It is not a technology of tomorrow; it is available today. And if President Carter has any real intention of fighting what he called "the moral equivalent of war," I hope he will have the foresight to arm himself with the weapon that solar energy affords.

The Egyptian-Israeli Peace Treaty: How It Began

CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM L. "BILL" DICKINSON

Washington, D.C. - Last week's special column was written by my wife Barbara and was sent out to the news media. It described her observations and feelings of the White House dinner given by President Carter in honor of Prime Minister Begin of Israel.

The Three Seasons Study Club had its April meeting on Monday night, April 9, 1979 in the Methodist Church Educational Building. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Vicki Bandera and Mrs. Altona Vaughan. A delicious refreshment plate was served to each member during the social period.

Following the social period, Mrs. Deddie Power gave a very meaningful devotion. The program chairman, Mrs. Jean Helms, then called on Mrs. Linda Smith who presented the program for the meeting. Mrs. Smith gave a very interesting and informative program on "Practical Maintenance" in which she demonstrated and discussed various helpful hints for home maintenance and thriftiness.

The club president, Mrs. Ruth Smith, then called the club into a business session during which time various committees and projects were named and discussed. Among these were final plans for the club's "Summer Project" which is the weekly story hour held at the Elba City Library throughout the summer for children pre-school age through first grade.

After the business session, the meeting was adjourned.

The delegation visited Egypt and Israel during November, 1977, and included Congressman Melvin Price, Chairman; Lucian Nedzi, D-Ill.; Bob Wilson, R-Calif.; Dick White, D-Tex.; Marjorie Holt, R-Md.; Ron Dellums, D-Calif.; the late Goodloe Byron, D-Md.; Bob Daniel, R-Va.; and myself.

On November 10, 1977, we met with Prime Minister Begin in Jerusalem. Two days before that, Mr. Sadat had publicly stated he would be willing to go any place for peace - even to Israel. We asked Mr. Begin for his reaction to Sadat's offer to come to Israel in pursuit of peace - would he invite Sadat to come. Begin picked up the line immediately. He asked Chairman Price to take a message to Mr. Sadat stating that if he would come to Israel, he, Mr. Begin, would go to meet him and escort him to Jerusalem where he would get a warm and friendly reception. They could begin to talk peace in the Middle East.

Two days later, on November 12, 1977, the delegation delivered Mr. Begin's message to President Sadat at Bargaras, Sadat's residence south of Cairo. We asked Mr. Sadat when he would go. He said he would go whenever the Israeli Parliament was ready to receive him now.

Shortly after our meeting with Sadat, the official Israeli invitation arrived through the American Embassy - and with it, the barriers of hatred and enmity which have stood for years started to break down. Those of us in Congress received a lot of criticism for spending tax dollars for traveling abroad. I wonder how much this trip was worth?

Since the recent peace treaty signing in Washington, Prime Minister Begin has visited President Sadat in Cairo and the two leaders are planning other activities to solidify their new-found state of peace.

As I said earlier, no human being knows whether or not this effort toward Middle East peace will be lasting - but I am proud to have played a small part in the events that got the two sides together.

Boy Scout Troops Prepare For "See/N/Do"

Bringing the Official Boy Scout Handbook to life is the aim of the 56 Boy Scout Troops in this area who are preparing for the "Boy Scout See/N/Do" to be held at Camp Alaflo on April 28, 1979.

Boy Scout troops in the Alabama-Florida Council, Boy Scouts of America, have selected pages in the new sixth edition of the Boy Scout Handbook and will demonstrate in unusual ways the outdoor skills that boys learn as part of Scouting's educational program.

In addition to the 1,000 Scouts and leaders who will take part in the "Boy Scout See/N/Do", Webelos Scouts from local Cub Scout Packs and other boys from 11 to 17 years of age who are not Scouts are being invited to attend the all-day program, according to Joe Gayhart, Scout Chairman.

Nearly 64 different skills will be presented at the "Boy Scout See/N/Do", and these skills will be of interest to sampling families, outdoorsmen, hunters, fishermen, and other persons who take part in outdoor activities such as hiking and camping.

Among the skills to be shown are: camping, hiking, first aid, emergency preparedness, knots, and fire building.

The completely new Boy Scout Handbook was released last month in its ninth edition with a history of over 2 million copies having been printed since 1910.

The handbook is in seven sections which cover What Scouting Is, What Scouts Do, Where Scouts Roam, You and Other People, You-American Citizens, Upward to Eagle, and From Boy to Man.

THE PRESSBOX

With Ricky Mulaz, Sports Editor

Before I start talking about softball, I'd like to congratulate the Elba High baseball team on its fine start! The Tigers are 4-1, and really have a hard-hitting bunch, as is evident by the big scores they've rolled up. The team started practicing on their own during spring training and have dedicated themselves to having a winning season.

The local softball scene gets cranked off next week, and this year there will be lots of action. The men will play 4 nights a week, while the women will play 3 nights a week. The two leagues will play a total of 24 games a week, and that's a lot of games. Games will be played at Legion Field, Mulberry Heights and behind the school at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30. Go out next week and watch a couple of games. Admission is free, so all it will cost you is a little time!

It's too early in the year to tell who will be the local softball powers in the Men's League, but the early guess is The Little Beaver and the Peoples Bank. The Beaver, made up primarily of "Old Hardy's" players, won a tournament two weeks ago, and reports were they really looked sharp. The Peoples Bank, always a solid team, has strengthened its roster with some new faces, and should field its best ever. Other teams that I expect to be near the top of the standings are Thors and Waldon. Kyle's Flying Service, Brundidge Volunteers and Dorsey Trailers.

The Women's League should be well-balanced with a very competitive league, but the thing I'm watching for is the chance to compare our girls with teams from other towns. The League is sanctioned this year, and that means the local teams will compete in tournaments with teams like Superior Roofing, the Ozark Crickets and the Dothan Dots.

Elba has always had some good teams, but since they weren't sanctioned they couldn't compete with out-of-town teams. Well, now they can, and I'm looking forward to it!

I subscribe to "Super Slowpitch," a newspaper devoted to big-time softball, and in last week's edition I found some interesting facts. Notes I jotted down were:

Harold Kelley, a native of Damascus, is now playing with Dave Carroll Sports, of Sherill's Ford, North Carolina. Harold played with Nelson's Paints, of Oklahoma, last year, but has now brought his big bat back East. Kelley has hit over 150 home-runs in each of the past two years, and should hit even more this season because the Dave Carroll team plays a 150-game schedule.

The biggest player in softball this year is Howard Furnitures Lindy Fann, a 6-9, 282-pound slugger. Last year, Fann hit a home-run over a 418-foot fence. What a shot!

The York Barbell, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, boast quite a 1-2 punch in Bruce Wilhelm and Brad Krebs. Wilhelm won the "World's Strongest Man" contest on CBS last year, while Krebs is a 6-6, 305-pound slugger.

I guess the "class of the county" in women's softball this year will be Superior Roofing, of Enterprise. The team is a combination of the Enterprise Merchants and the Chicks, and they have quite a club. Last weekend the team placed second in the Montgomery Classic, and along the way beat teams from Mobile, Montgomery and Columbus, Georgia. The Roofers have a good team, and will be competing in Elba in the Women's Softball Classic, later this summer.

I was told Tuesday morning that at least one city councilman had gone on record as being in favor of building a new tennis court and repairing the existing court - immediately! The Recreation Director has already checked on the price of the repair and new construction, and our new tennis court might be built quicker than you think. However, we need more than one councilman in our corner, so call up a councilman and tell him to support the plans for a new court.

Elba 11-10-6 Opp 9-7-4 The Elba Tigers erupted for 10 runs in the sixth-inning to claim an exciting 11-9 come-from-behind win over Opp Bobcats. Celebrity List Continues To Grow For George Lindsey Benefit

With the George Lindsey Celebrity Weekend rapidly approaching, enthusiasm and the list of celebrities committed to play in the golf tournament continue to grow.

Some of the latest commitments include sportscasters Joe Garagiola and Kyle Rote, Sr., football player Sam "Bam" Cunningham, comedian Foster Brooks and actors Jed Allen, Jeb Adams, Martin Milner and Robert Ginty.

Benefits from the Great Starts Show and Celebrity Golf Tournament which will be held on April 28 and 29, go to physical activity programs for Alabama's mentally handicapped citizens. Over $200,000 has been raised from the past seven years.

"I can't tell you how excited I am about this Celebrity Weekend," Lindsey said in making the announcements from Las Vegas, where he is playing three weeks at the Silver Bird. "I expect the tournament to be the biggest success ever. We have been really getting some great commitments the last few weeks and we should be able to raise more money than ever before for my kids."

Garagiola and Rote are two of the more visible sportscasters on television today. Garagiola, who played major league baseball with several teams, is the voice of NBC's "Baseball Game of the Week," while Rote is a CBS football commentator.

Sam Cunningham is one of the premier running backs in the National Football League with the New England Patriots after an outstanding college career in which he performed in the same backfield with O. J. Simpson at the University of Southern California.

Allen is more known around the country as "Don Craig" whom he portrays on the soap opera "Days of Our Lives". He is considered one of the top soap opera actors in the business.

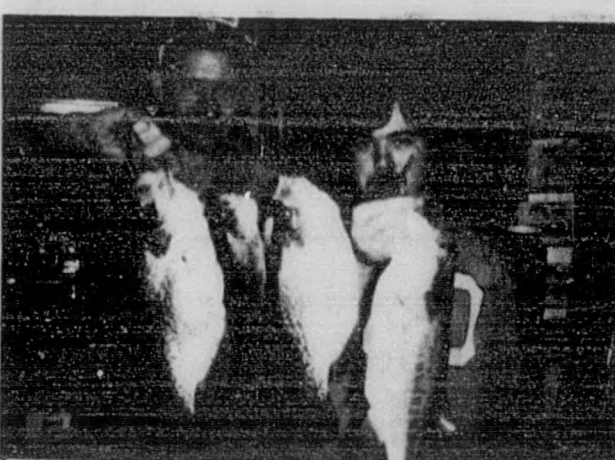

These celebrities join a long, glittering list of celebrities from throughout the entire sports and entertainment world who have already committed to the Weekend.

Among the others are Alabama football coach Paul Bryant, Auburn coach Doug Barfield, LSU coach Charlie McClendon, ex-All-Pro linebacker Tommy Nobis, ex-All-Pro quarterback and placekicker George Blanda, stuntman Evel Knievel and Tampa Bay Buccaneers running back Johnny Davis, formerly of the University of Alabama.

Singer Roy Clark, Country and Western Singer of the Year Don Williams, "Dallas" star Jim Davis, famed midge star Billy Barty, and game show host Tom Kennedy are only a few of the celebrities from the entertainment world who will be on hand.

Record Remodeling Plays Upbeat Tune

In the annals of remodeling, kitchens historically have led the list. Industry figures show that a record of $3.6-billion was spent remodeling kitchens in 1977. The next most popular project was bathrooms, with a combined $2.6-billion spent to fix up old ones and add-on new ones.

In the second quarter of 1978, Americans invested in home improvement to an upbeat economic tune estimated at a seasonally-adjusted annual rate of $38.3-billion, according to the Commerce Department.

The American desire to modernize is not surprising. Neither is the emphasis on kitchens and baths. What is noteworthy is the extent of remodeling activity and the total expenditures, which the home improvement industry labels "far beyond expectations." It paces the unparalleled growth on three home prices, a huge turnover in existing homes, and the coming-of-age of the homeowner as a do-it-yourself handyman.

Motivation for kitchen remodeling is strong and basic. Usually, it's aimed at updating convenience, adding working space, increasing storage, and improving appearance. Convenience often translates into new appliances. Installation of new cabinets—which provide virtually all available storage, establish room decor, and form the base for countertop work space—was a major factor in more than half of all reported kitchen projects. In bathrooms, where they perform the same significant functions, vanities were listed as the most frequently used remodeling product next to faucets.

Do-it-yourselfers said they were active in more than 60 percent of kitchen and bath remodelings. Their involvement was partly an attempt to hold down overall costs. It also reflects the homeowners' growing confidence that they can handle jobs competently and make intelligent choices of building products and supplies. Availability of expert industry assistance helps enormously. The certification program of the National Kitchen Cabinet Association is an example.

Under the program, NKCA certifies kitchen cabinets and bath vanities whose construction and performance are tested by independent laboratories. The tests are tough and extensive, and cover both structural integrity and finish resistance.

To pass, cabinets must prove they are designed to withstand years of abusive kitchen conditions; heat and humidity, overloaded shelves and drawers, pulling and slamming of doors, water splashes, grease splatters, abrasive food spills, impacts from dropped objects, even the strain of children using doors and shelves as step stools.

Cabinets that demonstrate dependability display the round, blue-and-white NKCA certification seal inside the door or drawer. It shows they meet the construction and performance standards of the American National Standards Institute (ANSI).

Further information on cabinet selection and certification is available in a 16-page, illustrated color booklet, "Kitchen & Bath Planning." Send 35 cents to NKCA, P. O. Box 2978, Grand Central Station, New York, NY 10017.

Just as careful planning is the key to successful remodeling, cabinets play a major role in a kitchen's performance. To get good performance, look for the NKCA certification seal. It's the consumer's assurance that the cabinets are well-constructed and durable.

Kitchen Is Rough On Cabinets

Children carrying snacks into the living room are always being told, "Eat in the kitchen!" It's not because moms are mean. It's because kitchens are easier to clean.

Low maintenance is a sought-after quality in kitchens. Remodeling generally features installation of equipment and materials from cabinets to wall coverings—that resist staining, won't mar easily, and can be damp-wiped clean.

No wonder. For the room that appears warm and inviting to many people is harsh and inhospitable to its furnishings. Think what happens to kitchen cabinets. Food is spilled on them. They're splattered with water and detergent suds, exposed to heat and high humidity. Cans and other weighty objects are dropped on them. Drawers and shelves are overloaded.

HOW TIMES CHANGE!
We are in a different agricultural era now than before. Several years ago we planted cotton, corn and peanuts regardless of the expected prices. Times change! Right now in Coffee County we have people who are making decisions between planting soybeans and planting corn. If it were not for the fact that a lot of peanut growers prefer to keep a corn rotation for peanuts, we would be planting even more soybeans.

But the fact is Coffee County farmers are more flexible now in what they plant. They look at the profit potential of corn, grain sorghum or soybeans and plant accordingly. I would expect this trend to continue and be even more pronounced in the years ahead.

MANAGEMENT MISTAKES
"Successful Farming in the South," in a recent issue lists the six sins of irrigation. Lee says when you add water for profit, avoid an inadequate water supply. It is a sad occasion when you pump your pond dry and there is no rain in sight. The rule of thumb is that you need a minimum of six gallons per minute per acre from a flowing stream or well or 1 - 1 1/2 acre feet of stored water per acre.

The second mistake is in installing the wrong system. Check on several and install the system which best suits your land and your farming situation.

Another mistake is the cost of the installation and operating costs. Be sure to include all of these costs to get a good picture of what to expect.

A fourth mistake is a failure to keep the fertility of the soil up. It is poor management to spend for an expensive irrigation system and then make mistakes in fertility. Fertility can be easily corrected.

Waiting too long to irrigate is another mistake. A grower in Houston County said, "Even if you see a big, black cloud over the hill, go ahead and start watering if the crop needs it. If you get a good rain, you can turn the system off."

The final sin or mistake mentioned by Lee is failure to plan ahead in pest control. He says, for example, you can't irrigate one day and put your spray rig in the field the next day. More planning is necessary.

LEARNING OPPORTUNITY
Coffee County hog producers have a treat in store. Dan Presley has arranged a three-session shortcourse on swine production. It begins Monday night, April 9, at 7:00 at the Extension office in New Brockton. Dr. Harold Kjar, our Extension veterinarian at Auburn, will discuss swine diseases and swine health programs in the first session. Then the following two Monday nights, April 16 and April 23, Mr. Jerry Van Dyke, Extension swine specialist, will cover all other phases of facilities, management and nutrition. I know we will have a large group for this meeting. We are expanding in hog production.

DEDICATION
The Wiregrass Boat Testing Station will be dedicated Wednesday, April 11, at 1:00 p.m. All of Coffee County's contributors to this facility have been invited to attend. Chairman Joe Danley of Jack, who headed the Coffee County fund-raising effort, extends an invitation to all hog producers to attend this dedication at the station in Headland.

The Boat Testing Station is already in operation. I hope the swine demonstration unit will be in operation within a year. We have a tremendous opportunity in Coffee County to expand and to improve our hog production and profits. I am looking forward to the dedication.

LAWN MANAGEMENT
Homeowners who have Centipede, St. Augustine, Bermuda, Zoysia and even other types of lawns can now close the first two or three times. This will remove a lot of the dead grass which accumulated last year.

However, as the season progresses you will have a better lawn if you will raise the cutter blade on your mower probably 1/4 to 1/2 inch each month. This allows for extra growth which strengthens the root system. Caution: Do not over-fertilize lawns, especially Centipede. 15-0-15 fertilizer is better for a Centipede lawn because it does not contain any phosphorus.

Grazing And Haying

1979 Wheat

Crop Authorized

Coffee County farmers who planted wheat for 1979 harvest now have another option to consider: they may graze or cut hay (for green chop, hay, or silage) on the acreage for payment, Robert English, Chairperson of the Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, said.

English indicated that wheat grazed or cut for hay under the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program will qualify for payment at the same deficiency payment rate as wheat harvested for grain.

"Producers wishing to use this option may indicate their intentions at their local ASC county office during the 1979 wheat and feed grain program sign-up period currently underway. The sign-up period ends April 30," English said.

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland reported that he took action to encourage the production of more beef later on this year. "While the impacts of this action will be slight, it should nonetheless slow the expected increase in beef prices," Bergland said. It will also help reduce the amount of grain harvested.

Wheat program participants will be allowed to graze cattle or cut hay on wheat acreage equal to the higher of (1) 50 acres, or (2) 40 percent of their total intended plantings of wheat, feed grains and upland cotton.

Participants in the program must also comply with normal crop acreage (NCA) and with set-aside requirements on their farms. There will be no advance payment or minimum payment guarantee this year as was provided to 1978 participants.

English said that calves now on wheat pasture ordinarily would have to come off and be sold as early as March 15 to permit the wheat to mature for harvest, while the action on grazing or haying on the acreage permits the calves to remain an additional 60 days or so.

FURNITURE
If you're shopping for furniture, you want to get the best quality for the money. The furniture should stand squarely on the floor. Be sure the finishes are durable, smooth and evenly applied and the materials are of good quality.

Check to see if movable parts such as drawers fit well and operate easily and smoothly.

CEREAL

When shopping for cereals, do you have a favorite that you always buy? Or do you just go pick up a new cereal you think you might like? Either way, look on the cereal box for a list of ingredients. This listing is the order of ingredients by weight. When you decide what kind of cereal you want, compare the different brands nutritional labels.

FEELINGS
Remember children are people with feelings just like yours. They depend on you to understand their feelings even when they don't understand themselves. Children look to you for examples of how to express and handle feelings.

Be aware of your child's feelings. Watch your own behavior. As pressures start to build in you, be careful to show your child healthy ways to deal with problems. And sometimes, when he least expects it give him a hug that says "everything's going to be okay."

But the plural of house is houses, not hie!

If the plural of man is always called men.

Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?

Why should not the plural of booth be called beeth?

The development of miniature receivers has made the use of hearing aids much more attractive to Americans who suffer from a loss of hearing. In the past, many persons refrained from wearing hearing aids because they did not want to wear the device.

The modern hearing aids are so small that they are virtually unnoticeable. The hearing aid can be disguised in the frame of eye glasses and in other ways to make the device practically invisible. A hearing aid is actually a microphone, an amplifier, a receiver and a battery combined to aid the hearing.

EHS Completes Fund Raising Drive

The Elba High School just completed their annual fund-raising drive, to purchase banquet decorations, equipment, and supplies for the FFA Department.

The students and parents really worked hard, and Mr. Tom Maddox expressed his appreciation to everyone who participated in the drive. He also expressed a special thank-you to the citizens of Elba who bought the place mats, and encouraged everyone to use them.

Since the program was so successful, Mr. Maddox said they would establish it as an annual event.

On March 22, 1979, the EHS Library Council met during activity period. The president, Wanda Walker, called the meeting to order.

and Secretary, Delores Kelly, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

This was a work session where members were given time to create a poster or work on an exhibit for National Library Week. The bookmarks that had been printed were shown to the club members.

Plans were made to attend the district meeting of the Wiregrass Library Assistants Association.

THE ELBA CLIPPER tries to perform an impossible task, trying to be almost all things to almost all people.

Not even the best newspapers achieve that goal; but they try, within the limits of their resources.

It is a formidable challenge:

--To report, accurately and fully, yet concisely, the news of the day at the local, state, national and international levels.

--To entertain, with socials, school news and sports reporting.

--To provide a forum for discussion of public issues.

--To act as the consumers' friend, the home-makers' advisor and counselor, the buyers' guide, the sellers' marketplace, the voters' source of information on candidates and issues.

--To be the community's "bulletin board."

--To comment, honestly, forthrightly, courageously and knowledgeably, on the important topics of the day.

Your ELBA CLIPPER works for you. It is your window to the world, your servant, your friend, your counselor, and your way of voicing your opinions to a wide audience.

No other enterprise can make that statement.

Local Shopping Center Owners Announce Immediate Expansion Plans

The long rumored expansion of The Elba Shopping Center became official this week when partners Drexel Cook and Mack Wiese announced a 6,000 square foot expansion that will completely finish filling the center.

The major part of the expansion will be another expansion of the Elba Big Bear supermarket, locally owned and operated by Wayland Adkinson. Adkinson is assisted in the operation by his wife and two sons.

Also to be constructed will be a new office for the South-east Alabama Gas District and Farm Bureau Insurance. Present offices of the gas company will be incorporated into the enlarged grocery store as well as the area behind the new Farm Bureau office.

Adkinson explained that his store will expand to the existing outside wall of the present gas company building and back to the back alley of the shopping center. As mentioned earlier, Adkinson said the area behind the to-be-constructed Farm Bureau building will house the greatly expanded produce department.

In addition to the expanded produce department, Adkinson and his staff are making final plans for expanding the meat department, dairy department, frozen food display and are ordering additional gondola shelving for staple grocery display. Also a "hot delicatessen" will be installed and operated Monday through Saturday offering hot take-out dinners to the public. These dinners will offer a choice of meats, vegetables and salads.

Mike Kelley, local Farm Bureau agent, told this newspaper his company is looking forward to occupying the new facility. They foresee being able to serve their members customers in the new expanded offices with the extra benefit of ample uncrowded parking.

The move by the gas company will have little effect on the public, as they will be only moving over several feet to make room for other occupants of the shopping center.

Cook predicted construction, to be done by Clark Hardware of Red Level, would be underway soon after May 1st and would take sixty days to complete.

Elba Council Buys Trash Truck

The Elba City Council met Tuesday night with all present except Councilman Cleo Hawkins. City Clerk Jack Prescott had other obligations, and the minutes were kept by Secretary Pat Holley.

The Council opened bids and purchased a 14-ton trash truck without the confusion and heated arguments that blanketed the issue at the last Council meeting. Two bids were received - both were from local dealers with Frank Ashe Ford receiving the bid with a low bid of $8,197.44 on a F600 truck.

Mayor Folsom noted that the dump body on the present truck would be transferred to the new chassis.

The Council heard a recommendation from Mayor Folsom on the need for two self-propelled lawn mowers and two mobile radio units. The Council voted to buy the necessary radios from T&C.

Walter Tommy Harrison, a driver for Dorsey Trailers and a resident of Elba, was killed early Monday afternoon in Cullman, Alabama.

Harrison, who was in his late 20's, reportedly was standing in the parking lot of Jack's Truck Stop in Cullman when a loose tanker truck broke loose and rolled over him. Local Dorsey officials were unable to say if the truck brakes failed (the engine was running and the tractor jumped into gear), nor did they know the name of the driver of the rolling tanker. The Dorsey driver was en route to Michigan with a trailer when the accident occurred.

Harrison was a native of Ono, Ala. He was married and had three children. His mother still resides in the Opp area.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from County Line Baptist Church, between Perry's Store and Opp.
